OPEN DOOR POLICY OF HAY BIG FACTOR IN HARDING PLANS

Will Extend Around World and Be Basis for Commercial Equality Claim.

WILL PROCEED SLOWLY.

Knox Resolution Stemmed by President, Who Wants to Control Its Phraseology.

By David Lawrence.

(Special Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, April 6 (Copyright, 1921.—President Harding at his semi-weekly meeting with the Washington correspondents made it clear that he doesn't intend to be stampeded into taking a dozen steps at once in matters of foreign policy and that he means to proceed slowly and cautiously in formulating America's programme.

Many Cabinet discussions and conferences have failed to develop a practical way to consider the Versailles Treaty without submitting it again to the United States Senate—an action that might be construed as endorsement of the covenant of the League of Nations, which is a part of the treaty itself. Suggestions that the treaty might be rewritten with the League clauses modified or that the enforcement provisions of the treaty might be separated from those articles which have to do with international co-operation have seemed to lead nowhere. On every side the problem of amending the treaty has meant accepting portions of the treaty, which the new Administration feels committed to reject.

Meanwhile the movement to rush the Knox resolution through has been to some extent stemmed by the desire of Mr. Harding to maintain a control over the phraseology of the resolution, as well as the time of its passage. All that it is proper to say at the moment is that the Harding Administration is getting ready to turn its back on the Versailles Treaty and the covenant and is planning to end the technical state of war by a Congressional resolution, which would be followed by a carefully worked-out policy toward the other nations of the world.

NEW POLICY WILL NOT BE ONE OF ISOLATION.

The new policy will not be isolation. It will not be a return to the old days of diplomatic seclusion. It will mean that as a world power America will not cease to be aggressive where her rights are concerned, and that America recognizes the importance of playing her part in preserving world peace if any nation or Government threatens to disturb civilization again.

Mr. Harding is loath to talk for-

NATIONAL GUARD OF N. Y. RESUMES WAR DESIGNATIONS

Will Be Known as 27th Division, but Old 69th Joins 29th.

Plans for the reorganization of the New York National Guard, so that the State troops will conform to the new army plan, have practically been completed by Adj. Gen. J. Leslie Kincaid.

The details given out to-day show that when all the changes have been effected, New York will have as its part of the National Guard of the Nation all of the 27th Division, part of the 29th Division and a number of corps and trimy troops.

The part of the 27th Division not within this State will be supplied by New Jersey and Delaware. Gen. Kincaid's statement continues:

"All units of the 27th Division will be continued under their war designations. The 2d Infantry of New York will resume its former war designation of the 105th Infantry. In similar manner the 23d Infantry will resume its war designation of the 106th Infantry. The 7th Infantry will continue as under the name of the 107th Infantry, while the 12th Infantry will resume its war designation of the 108th Infantry.

The 1st, 2d and 3d Regiments of Field Artillery will resume their war designations of the 104th, 105th and 106th Field Artilleries.

The 22d Engineers will retain its war numeral of the 102d Engineers.

"The sanitary units are to constitute a medical department, with headquarters in the armory of the 1st Field Hospital in West 66th Street.

"The divisional trains will be largely composed of existing units of the 10th Infantry. All units of trains will be continued in the matter of their training as infantry to meet requirements of the State, but will be provided with all equipment to serve as train units in the event of war and during maneuvers.

"Two new units are to be organized to complete the reorganization of the 27th Division, and these are a tank company to be stationed in the armory of the 8th Coast Defense Command in the Bronx.

"The brigade of infantry to be a part of the 29th Division will be composed of the 9th Infantry, stationed in Manhattan, and the 74th Infantry, stationed in Buffalo. A regiment of field artillery will be organized from the existing companies of the 47th battalion engineers, mounted, in Brooklyn, and will be a part of the artillery brigade of the 29th Division.

New Industrial Commission Continued.

ALBANY, April 6.—The Senate this afternoon confirmed the appointments of Roscoe Lowry Whitney, Henry R. Sayre, John D. Higgins and T. V. O'Connor as members of the new Industrial Commission. Senator Seidel, Socialist, was the only member to oppose the confirmation.

MRS. RANKINE TOLD NURSE "I'D RATHER BE DEAD THAN ILL"

Missing Widow Refused to Have Fears Over Sickness Allayed.

POLICE DRAG RIVER.

Fragment of Mourning Veil Found Off East 61st Street by Grapplers.

Ill-health and the fainting spells to which she was occasionally subject, with their consequent periods of depression, may account for the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Annette Norton Rankine. Information obtained to-day disclosed Mrs. Rankine had spoken several times to Miss Spink, the nurse in constant attendance upon her, about her health and the probabilities of her recovery. Upon one occasion she said to Miss Spink:

"Do you think I am ever to get over my illness?" and in spite of reassurance upon that point, remarked: "If not, I'd much rather be dead."

Whenever these moments of depression arrived Miss Spink did her best to cheer Mrs. Rankine, but it seemed always that in the latter's mind there was a doubt of her complete recovery from the illness which followed a nervous breakdown some time ago.

Although two hopeful bits of information have come to light relative to Mrs. Rankine's disappearance last Friday evening at Second Avenue and 58th Street—one that Richard Dunn, a watchman, saw a woman answering her description enter a B. R. T. subway kiosk at that corner, and another that Mrs. Rankine asked her chauffeur, Frank Clouting, to direct her to a good pawnshop—the police to-day began dragging the East River near the Manhattan end of the Queensboro Bridge.

Police Launch No. 4 started out at 10 o'clock this morning with grappling irons and will search about the river piers until sundown. A fragment of mourning veil of expensive material was found in the river about fifteen feet from shore off 61st Street this afternoon. It was taken to the headquarters of the Marine Division for identification by members of Mrs. Rankine's family or friends.

Clouting's statement is that a short time before she disappeared Mrs. Rankine asked for the address of a pawnshop, much to his surprise. He told her of one he knew, but added he believed it to be closed at that time. Then, he says, she ordered him to drive toward the east side, and at the entrance to Queensboro Bridge ordered the car stopped and alighted.

If the woman Dunn saw enter the subway was Mrs. Rankine, the investigators think her disappearance may have been deliberate instead of due to accident or suicide. Her inquiry about a pawnshop is taken as an evidence she may have been temporarily out of her mind, as her relatives can conceive no reason why she should have sought a pawnshop. Pawnshops up and down the east side have been visited, but the jewelry she wore has not been found.

Mrs. Rankine's brother, Benjamin Vernon Norton of the Guarantee Trust Company, has J. M. Nye aiding in the search. Nye was for years bodyguard to Presidents, and one of the best known men in the Secret Service. He announced he believed in case like this the best way to achieve results is through unrestricted publicity. He is now employed by the Trust Company and is known over the country as "Bill" Nye.

NEGROES CHAINED TOGETHER WERE THROWN INTO RIVER, WITNESS SWEARS AT TRIAL

Clyde Manning Tells How Unfortunates Were Slain on the Williams Plantations Where Eleven Men Were Killed After Peonage Investigation Began.

COVINGTON, Ga., April 6.—Two negro farm laborers, Lindsey Peterson and Willie Preston, were thrown into Yellow River, bound and chained to a hundred pounds of rock, according to testimony to-day of Clyde Manning, negro farm foreman, in the trial of John S. Williams, Jasper Manning, plantation owner, for the murder of Peterson.

"The boys begged mightily hard, but Mr. John said throw them in the river, and me and Charley Chisholm pitched them over the bridge," said Manning.

Manning said the "boys" he and Chisholm drowned were Lindsey Peterson, Willie Preston at one place and Harry Price at another, all farm hands on Williams's plantation.

Chisholm later was killed to keep him from talking, it is alleged. "Boss, I don't recollect the exact date," said Manning, "but it was on a Saturday night late in February or early in March."

"Peterson and Preston were chained together with wire around their hands and thrown in the Yellow River. They begged awfully hard but we had to throw them in the water. Price was drowned in the South River."

"Mr. Williams drove us to the river in his automobile. The three boys were killed the next week after Government agents had talked to us about peonage conditions."

Attorney W. M. Howard, special prosecutor, asked Manning where Price was when Peterson and Preston were being drowned.

"In the car," Here Greene F. Johnson, chief counsel for Williams, moved that the testimony regarding Price's death be stricken from the record.

The jury retired while the point was argued. Judge John B. Hutchinson, presiding, overruled the motion.

Manning was on the stand when court recessed for lunch. Williams again ate lunch with his family in a room in the court house to-day.

Resuming the stand after lunch, Manning continued his story.

"We took Price in the car to the South River, about a mile and a half away. He begged us not to throw him in the river, saying he would jump in himself."

"Price had a sack of rocks tied around his neck. I helped him climb on the bridge railing."

"He said, 'Lordy have mercy on

WILLIAM R. HEARST, who is accepted as the political sponsor for Mayor Hylan, in an editorial in the Evening Journal to-day answers the question which the Mayor has steadily refused to go. The editorial says:

"Some reporters were anxious to know what Mayor Hylan would do next fall. They had heard he would not run again."

"The Mayor replied that he had nothing to say about that just now."

"Mayor Hylan will run for Mayor again."

FOUR MASKED MEN TIE UP WATCHMAN; GET $20,000 LOOT

Excellent Fur Dressing Co., Adelphi Street, Brooklyn, Robbed in Early Morning.

TERRORIZE THE GUARD

Carry Him Up to Third Story, Return to Second Floor and Steal the Furs.

Four masked men carrying revolvers confronted Martin Duket of No. 75 Seigel Street, Brooklyn, watchman for the Excellent Fur Dressing Company, Nos. 28 and 30 Adelphi Street, Brooklyn, when Duket went from the third floor to the second floor of the building between 2 and 2:30 o'clock this morning.

Covering the watchman with their revolvers, the burglars bound and gagged him and carried him back to the third floor. They then returned to the second floor, removed furs valued at $20,000 and escaped.

Charles Becker, a tenant in an adjoining building, heard groans this morning and found Duket, who called the police after his bonds were cut. Investigation showed the robbers had entered the building through a rear window.

Detectives Donnelly and Daly of the Classon Avenue Station got a tip from some one in the neighborhood that a truck had been seen standing near the fur company's establishment at 2:30 o'clock this morning. On a description of the truck they found its owner and he was questioned this afternoon by the police.

SENATE BEGINS 'PHONE INQUIRY

Resolution Demands P. S. C. Furnish Reasons for Granting 20 Per Cent. Increase.

ALBANY, April 6.—Senator Kauffman today introduced a resolution requesting the Public Service Commission to furnish the Senate with its reasons for granting the 20 per cent. telephone rate increase in New York City.

After reciting the amount of the increase, the resolution reads: "Such increase at this time is entirely at variance with the crying necessity for reduction in prices of all commodities and public service charges necessary to encourage a revival of business."

The resolution was referred to the Public Service Committee.

HITCH IN NEGOTIATIONS IN BRITISH MINERS' STRIKE, PREMIER TELLS COMMONS

Both Sides Had Agreed to Resume Parley, but Miners Refused to Keep Pump Men at Work While They Negotiate—Transport Workers Decide to Give Full Aid to Strikers.

LONDON, April 6 (Associated Press).—A hitch developed this evening in the proposed resumption of negotiations between representatives of the striking coal miners and the mine owners, it was announced in the House of Commons by Mr. Lloyd George, the Prime Minister.

He said the Miners' Federation had just informed him it was unable to see its way clear to instruct the mine pump men (whose duty it is to keep the mines clear of water) to resume work during the negotiations.

Mr. Lloyd George declared it would be quite impossible for the negotiations to proceed unless this obstacle was overcome and he hoped the members representing the miners would exercise their influence to induce the Federation to reconsider its stand on this point.

At the eleventh hour Premier Lloyd George intervened with an invitation to both sides of the mining dispute to meet representatives of the Government and reopen negotiations. After deliberation the contending forces decided to accept the mediation offer.

The transport workers of the entire country this morning decided to support the miners to the fullest extent, which meant a general transport strike if necessary, and the railwaymen were credited with the intention of taking similar action, which would result in the complete tie-up of all the country's business.

Meantime the Government was distributing troops, diverting warships to various important ports and making other precautionary moves. To the general public it looked like a fight to the end. At this juncture the Prime Minister stepped in with his mediation proposal.

At the meeting of the Triple Alliance this afternoon, at which it had been intended to determine what action should be taken to support the miners, discussion was postponed. J. H. Thomas, General Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, merely announced that the Triple Alliance had "considered how best to assist the miners in their struggle," and that "the miners answered satisfactorily all the questions put to them."

WILL GIVE ALL AID IN POWER TO MINERS.

At the conclusion of the Transport Workers' Federation meeting Robert Williams, General Secretary, said: "On recommendation from the Executive Committee, the conference has decided to give all assistance in our power to whatever extent necessary to help the miners, and at once to enter into negotiations with the railway men and the miners for the purpose of taking joint action throughout the remainder of the contest."

TRANSPORT FEDERATION HAS MEMBERSHIP OF 500,000.

The National Transport Workers' Federation, which voted to extend aid to the miners in their strike, comprises the thirty-five affiliated unions with an aggregate membership of about 500,000. A strike ordered by the Federation, if it became generally effective, would cut out all types and classes of workers engaged in transportation by road, rail or sea.

These workers include the street car conductors, motormen, taxicab drivers, truckmen, engineers, trainmen, watermen, lightermen, barge-men, stevedores, freight shunters about the railroad yards, hostlers at freight terminals, canal watermen, various classes of general laborers, firemen, stokers, dock workers, ship stewards, cooks, various vehicle workers and miscellaneous assortment of other auxiliary service workers.
